ORIGIN OF THE DUSHANE NAME

From the original French manuscripts, which are of a legendary nature, it is reported that, in the year 800 A.D., the King of France, on the eve of a battle, was reviewing his troops and noted a body of men, who stood unmovable, straight as arrows, presenting an unbroken front. In answer to his question as to who they were, he was informed they were a group from Southern France, name unknown. Immediately he replied, "From now on they shall be called Des Cheines, meaning of the oak."

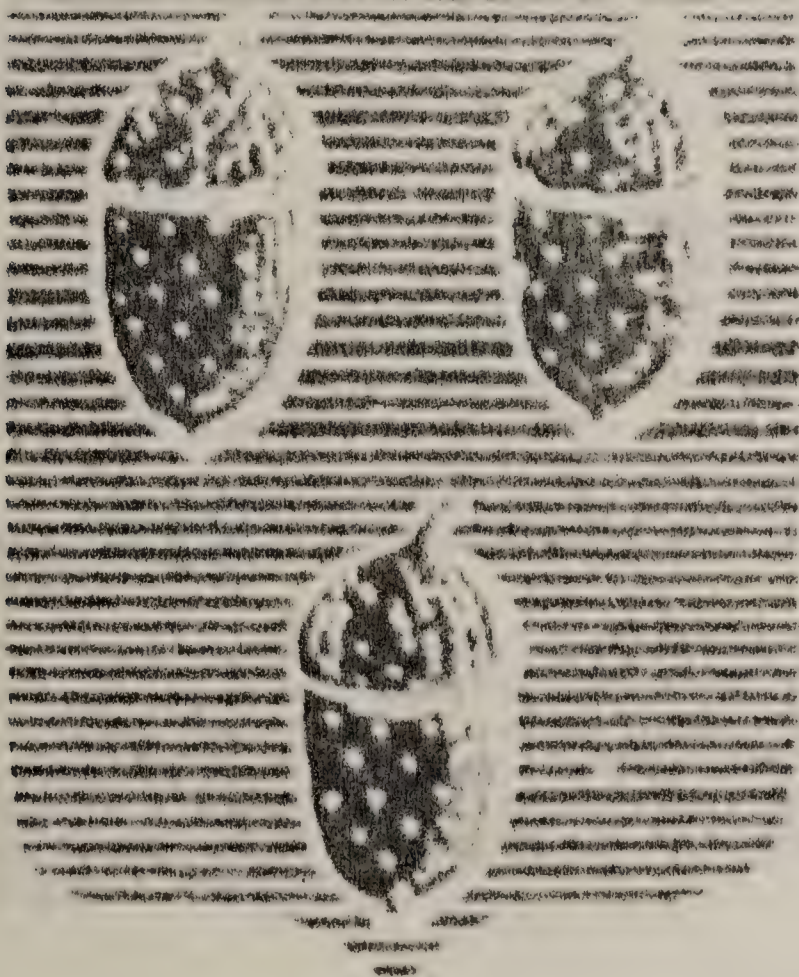

Since the incident the question has arisen whether this was the name or whether it was Des Chaines, meaning chain or link. However, from the Coat-of-Arms, which distinctly shows three acorns, it is generally conceded the first name, meaning of the oak, is the name the King actually conferred on them.

SPELLING OF THE NAME

While the original spelling was Des Cheines, due to the Huguenots having fled from France to various European countries, when they came to America they spelled the name as it was pronounced in the country in which they had been temporarily residing. However, these spellings reverted to the French spelling of Duchesne and then finally, in 1812, to Dushane, which has been accepted and used ever since.

THE COAT-OF-ARMS

The Book of Heraldry of Poitou says: Of gold with three acorns of sinople (stated in 1698 by Fontenay). The family has carried since then: Back-ground of azure with three acorns of gold placed 2 and 1 (Cachets).

EARLY SETTLERS

After a most unrelenting persecution during the 26 years which succeeded the massacre of St. Bartholomew's Day (August 24th, 1572), Henry IV, by the Edict of Nantes adopted in 1598, gave to the Protestants the same rights, privileges and immunities with the Roman Catholics. This was, in fact, extending to them a full tolerance of their religious principles.

This secession of persecution, which was again renewed by Louis XIV when he revoked the privileges granted the Protestants, prompted many French families to seek new homes in America in the Fall of 1659 and the Spring of 1660.

They intermarried with the best English and Dutch families of New Amsterdam.

The Dushane family are descendants of a French Huguenot, Antoine Duchesne, who was born in 1640 and arrived on Staten Island about 1659. The exact date is unknown, due to a disastrous fire at Ellis Island in 1898, which destroyed all records of immigrant arrivals.

Antoine Duchesne was born in France in 1640 (Compendium of American Genealogy). He arrived in America and landed on Staten Island in the year 1659. In 1677 he married Anne Boucquet (Compendium of American Genealogy) and, by this union, had seven children - Jerome, Michael and Valentine, Anna, Janette, Magdalene and Fransentie. He was evidently a farmer, as, by his Will, dated April 3rd, 1711, he gave to his eldest son, Jerome, a plot of ground and to his second son, Michael, a plot of ground, a negro and all his movables. He died in 1712, as his Will was probated in the Surrogate Court of New York on May 12th, 1712 (Liber 8, Page 235).

Of Antoine's seven children, information has only been compiled on the first two - Jerome and Michael. The descendants of these two brothers followed the paternal name as the given name and, as their father was Anthony, the separation of the lines, as to the name "Anthony", is obtained from Wills, Administrators and Deeds.

In 1684 some of the Swedish, Dutch, English and French families migrated to Delaware and settled in St. George's Hundred, among them being the Dushanes (Scharf's History of Delaware, Page 982).

Jerome, eldest son of Antoine Duchesne, married Catharine (last name unknown) and died before 1736. They had one son, Anthony.

Anthony married Jacamyntic (last name unknown) and died about 1750. They had one son, Jerome.

Jerome was born in 1716 (Compendium of American Genealogy) and first married Mary (last name unknown) and second Hannah Bruff. By these marriages he had ten children - Jesse, Thomas and Anthony, Katharine, Elizabeth, Margaret, Hannah, Francina, Mary and Jamima. He died April 18th, 1775:

Jesse, who died in 1775, and Thomas must have died unmarried and intestate, as there are no records of either leaving a Will.

Anthony married Elizabeth Williams and, by this union, had two sons - Thomas W. and Jesse M. He died April 6th, 1803.

Thomas W. died in 1807 and was probably unmarried, as his Will leaves his entire estate to his mother.

Jesse M. Dushane married Maria Vance Pennington on April 17th, 1816. They had three children - Nathan Thomas, Eliza Jane and John M. He died July 11th, 1822.

Nathan Thomas Dushane was born in St. George's Hundred, New Castle County, Del. on February 3rd, 1817. When a young man he moved to Baltimore and, having fitted himself as an architect, became engaged in real estate operations.

On December 12th, 1839 he married Mary Eliza Patterson and had ten children - William Thomas, Anna Maria, Mary Eliza, George Patterson, Emma Virginia, Jesse M., Nathan, Elizabeth, Frank MacDonough and Charles Benson.

In 1854 he was a Delegate to the Maryland Legislature and, in 1862, he was appointed Commissioner for Opening Streets by Mayor Chapman. He was a Mason, being a member of Warren Lodge, No. 51 of Baltimore and also a member of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows. He was an Elder of Old Westminster Presbyterian Church.

When the Civil War broke out, he was instrumental in raising the First Maryland Federal Regiment of Volunteers and was mustered in as its Lieutenant-Colonel. He was Acting Brigadier-General of the Maryland Brigade, Fifth Army Corps, Army of the Potomac, when he was killed in action on August 21st, 1864 at the Battle of the Weldon Railroad just outside of Petersburg, Va. (Scharf's History of Maryland, Volume 3). He was buried with full military honors from his home in Baltimore, Md.

Nathan Dushane, fourth son of Nathan Thomas Dushane, was born February 27, 1854 and died March 26, 1855.

Elizabeth Dushane, fourth daughter of Nathan Thomas Dushane, was born February 7, 1856 and died in August, 1857.

Frank MacDonough Dushane, fifth son of Nathan Thomas Dushane, was born June 17th, 1859 at Baltimore, Md. He received his education at the Eli M. Lamb School, from which he graduated in 1876. He first engaged in the Tobacco business but later entered the Banking business and, at the time of his death, was an Assistant Cashier with the First National Bank, with which institution he had been connected for forty years.

He was married twice, his first marriage being to Mary I. Mackintosh on November 13th, 1888 and by whom he had two children - Helen Mackintosh and Mary Patterson. His second marriage, which took place on April 16th, 1910, was to Thusnelda Breuninger but there were no children.

He was a member and Deacon of the Brown Memorial Presbyterian Church. He was a member of the Sons of the American Revolution and also a member of the Military Order of the Loyal Legion, to which he inherited the right of membership, being the oldest son of an officer killed in action in the Civil War.

He died May 25th, 1931 at the age of 72 and was buried in Greenmount Cemetery, Baltimore, Md. His widow now lives at the Northway Apartments, 3700 N. Charles St., Baltimore, Md.

Mary Patterson Dushane, second daughter of Frank MacDonough Dushane and last child, was born April 30th, 1892 and died June 14th, 1894.

Charles Benson Dushane, sixth son and last child of Nathan Thomas Dushane, was born December 1st, 1860 at Baltimore, Md. He received his education at the Eli M. Lamb School. After graduation he entered the retail store of Samuel Child, dealer in fine china and glassware. His next venture was as a traveling salesman for the china and glassware firm of Chandlee & Quarles.

At the age of 28 years he married Jennie White Chipman on April 30th, 1889, by whom he had one child - Charles Benson, Jr.

A few years later Mr. Quarles withdrew from the firm of Chandlee & Quarles and organized the firm of Giles W. Quarles & Co. with Mr. Dushane and a Mr. Mattingly as partners. Upon the death of Mr. Quarles a company was formed under the same firm name with Mr. Dushane as its president. He continued in this capacity for a number of years. However, due to the china and glassware manufacturers going direct to the retailers, particularly the department stores, Mr. Dushane found it necessary to liquidate his wholesale business. He then associated himself with the Manufacturers' Finance Co., with which firm he was connected until ill health forced him into retirement. He died June 17th, 1929.

His widow is now living with her son at 21 Scott St., Chicago, Ill.

Charles Benson Dushane, Jr., only child of Charles Benson Dushane, was born August 17th, 1897 at Mount Washington, Baltimore County, Md. He received his elementary education at private schools and finished at the Baltimore Polytechnic Institute.

He entered the Naval Reserve Flying Corps immediately upon the start of the war in 1917 and, upon completion of his flying training at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and the Pensacola Air Station at Pensacola, Florida, was commissioned Ensign in the United States Navy. He was sent abroad the latter part of 1917 and flew in England, France and Italy until after the Armistice was signed (November 11th, 1918) and,

Cornelius Dushane, Jr., third son of Cornelius Dushane, was born April 9th, 1785 in New Castle County, Delaware.

Being unable to stand the harsh, domineering treatment of his stepfather, he came to Baltimore in 1803 with his two brothers, John and Valentine. His first business venture was in the feed and grocery business and, at the same time, holding the position of Constable.

He married Ann McMurphy on January 1st, 1816 and, by this union, had one child - Joseph W.

Due to the success that his two brothers were having in the building field, he decided to assist them and learned the trade of bricklaying. He helped in the building of some of the State Tobacco Warehouses, as well as other brick and stone buildings. He followed this trade from 1831 to 1851, when he associated himself as a clerk with a coal dealer. In 1853 he established his own coal business at 399 W. Lombard St., which business he continued for several years. In 1866 he retired from business to enjoy a well-earned rest.

He died May 13th, 1875 in his ninety-first year.

Joseph W. Dushane, only child of Cornelius Dushane, Jr., was born March 24th, 1824 at Baltimore, Md. He married Harriet K. Williams on December 26th, 1850. He died February 22nd, 1855.

Valentine Dushane, fourth son of Cornelius Dushane, was born August 25th, 1787 in New Castle County, Delaware. Like his older brothers, John and Cornelius, he also resented the harsh and cruel treatment of his step-father and accompanied them to Baltimore in 1803. He began work by becoming an apprentice to a carpenter.

He married Elizabeth Sendorf on February 5th, 1809, by whom he had seven children - John, Mary Anne, Elizabeth, Margaret, Cecilia, Martha and Valentine, Jr.

When the City of Baltimore was threatened by the British, he joined Captain Deems' 51st Regiment and was given the rank of Sergeant. With the Regiment, he defended the City at the Battle of North Point on September 12th, 1814 (Nathaniel Hickman's Citizen Soldiers of Baltimore).

From just a journeyman carpenter, he branched out into the field of builder and had a very successful career. Among the more prominent buildings he constructed were the east wing of Old St. Paul's Rectory erected in 1826 and the Lutaw House erected in 1835, which was the outstanding hotel of its time. He also built many large business houses, which were destroyed in the Great Baltimore fire of 1904.

He died January 9th, 1850.

John Dushane, first son of Valentine Dushane, was born April 30th, 1810 at Baltimore, Md. He received his education in the public schools of Baltimore, at the conclusion of which he learned the carpentry trade under the instruction and guidance of his father. He assisted his father in the erection of many buildings in Baltimore, among them the east wing of the Rectory of Old St. Paul's Church at the northeast corner of Cathedral and Saratoga Sts. Bishop Kemp, who was then the Rector of Old St. Paul's, was so pleased with the efficient manner in which this work was done that he presented Mr. Dushane with an autographed Bible at the completion of the work in 1826.

He married Mary Elizabeth Evans on November 4th, 1832 and, by this union, had thirteen children - William, John Thomas, George Henry, Elizabeth Anne, James Albert, Charles Luther, Mary Cecilia, Clara Cornelia, Martha Virginia, Walter and Margaret Frances, Laura and Alice Ann.

He followed his line of business until his forty-seventh year, when, due to his success, he was able to retire and enjoy a well-earned rest.

He died April 19th, 1864.

He received his education in the public schools of Baltimore and graduated from the Baltimore City College at the age of 16 years. Shortly thereafter he entered the employ of the meat-packing firm of Smith & Nicodemus. By close and efficient application to his work, he rapidly rose to the position of Credit Man and Office Manager for the firm.

He married Louisa V. Harwood on October 10th, 1865 and had four children - William Harwood, Anna Louise, James Henry and Frederick Falconer.

In 1877 Smith & Nicodemus liquidated, due to the death of Mr. Samuel R. Smith. Mr. Dushane then entered the Accounting Department of the People's Gas Co., which was bought out by the Consolidated Gas Co. in 1880. This merger again caused him to seek employment elsewhere and he became associated with the Eutaw Savings Bank, where he remained until his death on July 18th, 1906.

William Harwood Dushane, first son of Valentine Dushane, Jr., was born October 8th, 1866 at Baltimore, Md. He received his education in the public schools of Baltimore. Being of a very delicate and sickly nature, he was compelled to seek outdoor employment and followed in the footsteps of his grandfather by taking up the trade of carpentry.

He was a close student of the Bible and the spiritual life was, at all times, uppermost in his mind. Each year he spent several weeks at the Methodist Campmeeting field grounds located at Emory Grove, Md., where he died on August 8th, 1898.

Anna Louise Dushane, only daughter of Valentine Dushane, Jr., was born June 1st, 1869. Her present address is 2722 St. Paul St., Baltimore, Md.

James Henry Dushane, second son of Valentine Dushane, Jr., was born July 4th, 1876 at Baltimore, Md. He received his education in the public schools of Baltimore. His first business venture was with the woolen manufacturing concern of W. J. Dickey & Sons, whose employ he entered in 1892 as office boy. Two years later he was appointed Salesman and assigned Baltimore, Philadelphia and the entire South, even into Texas as far as the Rio Grande.

He married Estella Iola Walter on April 20th, 1898 and has two children - Louise Iola and James Walter.

In 1902 he severed his connection with W. J. Dickey & Sons, being offered the position of City Salesman by Woodward, Baldwin & Co., Selling Agents for North and South Carolina Cotton Mills. In July, 1906 he was offered and accepted a position with Joshua L. Baily & Co. of Philadelphia, Pa. who are also Selling Agents for Cotton Mills located in North and South Carolina and has been with this firm ever since as their Baltimore representative.

He is an active member of the Trinity Methodist Church and, for several years, has been on its Official Board. He is also very active in Masonry, being a member of Waverly Lodge, No. 152, Ancient & Accepted Free Masons; Baltimore Royal Arch Chapter, No. 40; Baltimore Council, No. 18, Royal & Select Masters; Beauseant Commandery, No. 8, Knights Templar; Chesapeake Consistory, No. 1, Ancient & Accepted Scottish Rite; Masonic Veterans Association and a Noble of Boumi Temple, Order of Mystic Shrine. On October 24th, 1941, he was elected a 33° Mason by the Supreme Council, Ancient & Accepted Scottish Rite, at its biennial meeting in Washington, D. C.

the public schools of Baltimore and took a post-graduate course in Accountancy at the Johns Hopkins University. His first employment was as a runner for the Atlantic Trust & Exchange Bank. This work not being entirely to his liking, he next associated himself with the American Oil Co. as a traveling auditor.

He married Catherine G. McClellan on February 1st, 1933 and has one child - James Walter, Jr.

Tiring of continual traveling, in 1935 he resigned his position with the American Oil Co. to accept a position with the Home Owners' Loan Corporation in the Accounting Department, which position he held until the office was transferred to New York City in May, 1942, when he again resigned to accept a position as Cashier with Brink's, Inc.

His present address is 211 W. Mosher St., Baltimore, Md.

James Walter Dushane, Jr., first child of James Walter Dushane, was born June 6th, 1940.

Frederick Falconer Dushane, third son and last child of Valentine Dushane, Jr., was born October 19th, 1878 at Baltimore, Md. He received his education in the public schools of Baltimore.

When the United States declared war on Spain in April, 1898, he enlisted in the 1st Maryland U. S. Volunteer Infantry as a Private on June 29th at Pimlico, a suburb of Baltimore City. On October 1st of the same year he was made a Corporal, which rank he held until mustered out with an honorable discharge on February 28th, 1899.

He immediately entered the wholesale dry goods and notions firm of R. M. Sutton & Co. as a stock clerk and, by close application to his work, rose to be Assistant Buyer of hosiery. He resigned this position in 1910 to associate himself with The John M. Given Co. of New York, Mill representatives and Selling Agents for hosiery, as a Salesman, which necessitated his moving to that city. Again his efficiency and keen judgment was recognized, as, in a few short years, he was elected Secretary and Treasurer of this company, which position he holds at the present time.

He married Helen Webster Doyle on June 22nd, 1904 and has three children - Francis Webster, Frederick Gordon and Helen Louise.

His present address is 781 Ocean Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Francis Webster Dushane, first son of Frederick Falconer Dushane, was born July 20th, 1905 at Baltimore, Md. He was educated in the public schools of Brooklyn, N. Y. and, after graduation from high school, attended The Wharton School of Business at the University of Pennsylvania in Philadelphia. His first business venture was in the banking and financial field but, when the United States was granted permission to build landing fields on British possessions, he accepted a position with the F. H. McGraw Construction Co. and sailed for Bermuda in July, 1941 to assist in building the airplane base on that island. Having completed his work, he returned to the United States in November, 1942 and was immediately sent, by the same company, to Pittsburgh, Pa. to assist in a construction project there.

He married Lina Michilin Madeira on July 11th, 1931 and has one child - Diane Patricia Lina.

As he will only be in Pittsburgh temporarily, he still considers his permanent address as 601 E. 19th St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Diane Patricia Lina Dushane, only child of Francis Webster Dushane, was born January 11th, 1934.

Frederick Gordon Dushane, second son of Frederick Falconer Dushane, was born January 3rd, 1908 at Baltimore, Md. He received his education in the public schools of Brooklyn, N. Y. He was of an ambitious and energetic nature which enabled him to build up a very extensive and lucrative butter and egg business while still attending high school. On graduation from high school he began his business career by following in the footsteps of his father as a Hosiery Salesman. However, his physical condition was such that he was compelled to give up this line of work and, in fact, moved from Brooklyn to Passaic, N. J. where he associated himself with one of the numerous oil companies.

He married Catharine Mary Menedas on February 15th, 1936.

His present address is 175 Park Ave., Passaic, New Jersey.

Helen Louise Dushane, only daughter and last child of Frederick Falconer Dushane, was born September 18th, 1911 at Baltimore, Md. She married Richard W. Suydam on January 27th, 1940.

Her present address is 681 Ocean Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.
